FLOYD INDUSTRIES WINS STATE AWARD

Victoria's best electricians and projects named at Excellence Awards

The best Victorian electrical and communications contractors were recognised at the annual electrical industry Excellence Awards hosted by peak Australian industry body the National Electrical and Communications Association (NECA).

Floyd Industries were awarded the top state award for Energy Efficiency and Environment in front of 660 industry representatives at the pinnacle showcase of the electrical and communications industry at Crown Palladium.

The winning project was for the Supply and Installation of the Cogeneration Plant at the Wangaratta Indoor Sports and Aquatic Centre. The judges comments included "Delivering this highly technical project was a major accomplishment for a regionally based company, displaying their capacity and expertise to develop a full understanding of the project, and utilise their strong relationships to deliver". Neil Maisey from Optimal remarked "While this project was Floyd Industries first time implementing a Capstone Micro Turbine project Floyd Industries delivered the complete turnkey Co-generation Plant and associated works; integration, commissioning and utilities connections in only 6 weeks. This is unprecedented".

NECA Victoria Chapter President, Mr John Cutler, said "The electrical and communications contracting firms that have won awards are simply outstanding for what they have achieved during each project".
